PROMPTING:

HOW TO DO IT.

THIS little work, while it covers all the known modern square dances, is designed solely for the purpose of assisting those desirous of making prompting a business; hence the uninitiated will not find a few suggestions out of place.

HINTS.

Be a gentleman always; many questions will be asked, and many minds to please. Answer each in a pleasant manner in every instance.

Authority. — Should any complain of the tempo adapted by the orchestra, too slow, too fast, inform such that you are playing according to the instructions of the floor manager, to whom you pleasantly refer them, adding that you will willingly change it if it is his wishes.

Complaints. — Complaints of any character regarding the orchestra, etc., should be treated in a similar manner. The floor director is the sole authority, or his substitute in his absence.

In the case of a new party, or no instructions regarding tempo, watch the effect of the music, and change if it seems too fast or too slow.

Commencing. — At a signal from the floor director the cornet should sound the call for forming sets. At another signal from him commence the dance.

Square Dances. — Prompting is used only with square dances, quadrilles, Lancers, etc.

Quadrilles, Lancers, etc., are made up of numbers, and a combination of figures are given to each number, the whole forming one set.

Figures. — A single figure requires eight bars of music; ladies' chain, first four right and left, promenade, etc., are all single figures.

Two Calls. — Figures requiring two calls, such as half right and left, etc., give the first call on the eighth bar, the last on the fourth.

Invariably finish calling before the strain begins, otherwise the dancers will be behind, which detracts from their pleasure and the general effect.

Ladies' Grand Chain. — The correct amount of music for this figure is eight bars, but by some sixteen measures are used; hence the prompter must be on the alert, and make the calls accordingly. Usually, before the first quadrille is completed, the prompter can tell if the party dance in correct time.

Call thus, when four are used: Balance partners (corners), (4); turn partners (corners), (4).

Grand Right and Left. — It is well to make this call: Right hand to partner, grand right and left.

All Promenade Around the Hall is the last call for all square dances. Substitute "to seats" when not in a hall.

Head of Hall. — Usually the head of the hall is at the end where the orchestra is seated. If the orchestra be placed on one side, the floor director will announce the head of the hall.

The Voice. — Do not strain the voice under any circumstances; the effect is injurious, and will soon render it useless. A few lessons in elocution, for the purpose of learning to throw out the voice, as in singing, will prove money well invested.

Tones through the nose or down in the throat are thick and not easily understood. The more natural the tone, simply adding power, the better the effect. Use sufficient force to be heard by those farthest off. It is not the prompter who makes the most "noise" who is always the easiest understood.

Use extra care on the first quadrille; as a rule, it is the hardest to call, and is a temptation to strain.

At intermission or supper, milk, tea, or water are better for the voice than coffee.

THE CALLS EXPLAINED.

A step occupies the time of a beat

Address.—Salut or bow.

All Hands Round.—(8 bars.) All join hands, forming a circle, and galop entirely round to place.

All Promenade.—(8.) Partners cross hands, right hands uppermost. All glide to right, to places.

Balance.—(4 bars.) A graceful movement of the body and feet in time with the music; right foot glides to the right, left foot brought in front of right; repeat with the left foot; then the whole again.

Basket.—(5th number.) Ladies join hands in centre, gents to centre, join hands outside of ladies. Ladies courtesy, gents' hands over ladies' heads; balance and turn partners to place. (2) Ladies to centre, gents to centre, all cross hands; all balance and turn partners to place. (3) Ladies to centre, join hands all round, gents to centre, join hands outside and galop round to place; turn partners. (4) All join hands to centre and back; galop all round left to places; turn partners.

Balance Corners.—(4.) Gents face ladies on their left; advance three steps to the right, stop; three to the left; stop; turns the lady with both hands and returns to place.

Balance Partners.—(4 bars.) As above, gents facing partners, etc.

Chassé.—(4.) A glide to one side at each count, either foot first, the other brought up to it, and repeated as many times as desired.

Chassé Partners.—(4). Partners face, pass to the right, with three steps forward; back, and turn with both hands.

Chassé Across.—(8.) Called when set is formed in columns. Ladies make four steps to left and in front of partners; gents to the right, four steps. All forward one step; back one step; return to place in same way.

Cross Right Hands.—(8.) Two couples required. Opposites join hands across and at right angles. All four step to left, stop; drop right hands, turn and cross left hands; all four step to right; back to place.

Double Quadrille. — (Lancers.) Contains eight couples, two on each side.

First Four. — The four forming the first and second couples.

First Four Lead to Right. — The first and second couples cross to third and fourth couples, facing them.

First Two. — Lady of first couple and gent of second couple.

First Lady. — (Gent); lady (and gent) of first couple.

Forward and Stop. — (4). Three steps forward, and wait for next order.

Forward and Back. — (4.) Three steps forward, stop; then three backward and stop.

Forward, and Ladies to the Centre. — (4.) Partners join hands, advance four steps; four steps back to places; again four steps to centre; gents turn partners half round and retire to place, leaving ladies in the centre.

Four, Six, and Eight Hands Round. — (4.) Four, six, and eight join hands and galop once around to place [six and eight hands (8)].

Forward and Address. — (4.) Couple (couples, lady or gent) face and salute; done at a ritard or hold in the music.

Grand Chain. — (16 bars.)

Grand Right and Left all Round. Partners face and join right hands; gents go to the right of partners in passing, dropping her hand, joins left hand with next lady; passes on her left, right hand to next lady; left to next; salute partners (half round); continue to place.

Half Promenade. — (4.) Gents cross hands with partners, right hands uppermost; cross over, passing to the right of opposite advancing couples, taking their places.

Half Promenade all. — (4.) Partners cross, hands uppermost; couples pass to the right to opposite places and stop.

Half Right and Left. — (4.) By two opposite couples. Couples cross over, gents touch right hands with opposite lady, in passing joins left hand with partner; both turn half round into place of the opposite couple.

Head Couples. — First and second couples.

Ladies' Half Chain. — (4.) Danced by opposite couples at same time; opposite ladies cross, giving right hand in passing; ladies join left hands with opposite gent, and turn half round, which leaves the ladies standing to the right of the opposite gents.

Ladies to the Right. — (4 bars.) Four steps to right; dances four steps in front of gent; turns him once round and remains in his partner's place.

Ladies' Chain. — (8.) Danced by opposite couples at same time. Opposite ladies cross, give right hand, in passing, join left hand with opposite gent, and turn half round. Repeat, swinging partners with left hand to place.

Ladies' Grand Chain. — (8 or 16.) By all four ladies. Four ladies cross right hands in centre; half turn; drop right hands and join left with opposite gents; turn half round in place. Repeat the whole to place. (Eight bars is proper.)

Next Couple. — Count from the head couple to the right, third, second, fourth.

Promenade, Four. — (8.) Gents cross right hands with partners; couples cross over, passing to the right of advancing couples, taking their places. Return to place in like manner.

Sides. — The third and fourth couples. (See diagram.)

The Other Way. — The opposite of the usual way. From right to left, instead of left to right.

Turn Corners. — (4 or 8.) Gents four steps to left-hand lady; swing half round; right hands joined; gents four steps to partner; swing with left hands to place.

Turn Partners. — (4 or 8.) Gents take partners with both hands and turn once round to the left.

Learning. — Commit to memory one set of figures of a quadrille, for example, and call aloud and with the music until perfectly learned and the calls exactly in time; then take up the next.

The first attempts are nervous times at the best, so that all calls should be perfectly committed in the order they are to come, leaving nothing to memorandums or books before entering the hall.

Practice with the music until the calls are thoroughly mastered on time, and distinct.

Planning, New.—In making up new figures or combinations, count the strains of music, and adapt the calls to the strains; four strains, of eight measures each; two eight-measure strains, and one-eight-measure strain repeated; two repeated eight-measure strains or two sixteen-measure strains will admit four single figures.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

To many this part of a prompter's duties is the most difficult, particularly to those who have not a faculty for impromptu announcements.

Under all circumstances a few well-chosen words, to the point, are the best and all that is necessary. Long-winded speeches are out of place.

When sets are formed and ready for the dance is the best time, unless required at once; and for those to whom it is difficult we append a few forms which will be found to cover the usual happenings, and can be modified to suit the circumstances:—

A Fan Lost.—The Management wish me to announce that a lady's fan has been lost; any one finding it will confer a favor by leaving it at the platform, or with the floor director.

(A pin, a shawl, or any article can be substituted for "fan.")

Scarf Pin Found.—A gentleman's scarf pin has been found, which the owner can have, by calling at the platform.

Changing the Order.—The floor director requests me to announce that the next dance, number—on the order, will be a — instead of a —.

Omission.—Owing to the lateness of the hour, No. — on the order will be omitted.

Extra.—The next dance will be the (first, second, etc.) extra. It will be a (name).

Last Car.—The Management request me to announce that the last car will leave for (town) at (hour).

Supper Tickets.—I have been requested to announce that the supper tickets can be had of——, in the——, at (price) each.

Continued.—The Management have decided to continue the dance until (hour).

Supper.—At the conclusion of the next dance the gentlemen will please escort the ladies to the supper-room (banquet hall).

Next Party.—The next party, the Management wish me to announce, will be held here on——evening (date), same hour.

THE MARCH.

Balls are generally opened with a Grand March, which is led by the floor director and aids, followed by the rest of the company. As a rule, after the Grand March the Sicilian Circle is formed, thus:—

SICILIAN CIRCLE.

NOTE.— L—lady; G—gent.

SICILIAN CIRCLE.

The Sicilian Circle is formed in couples facing in a circle around the hall. The first call is given before playing.

Four hands round (4); turn partners (4); right and left (8); ladies' chain (8); all forward (4); pass by (4).

Repeat these calls ten or twelve times, according to the number in the party, then call:—

All balance partners (4); turn partners (4); promenade round the hall (8).

QUADRILLES.

Quadrilles, Lancers, and all square dances are formed with four couples in each set, the lady on the right of the gent, thus:—
